2006-2007

10TH ANNIVERSARY COLLECTION

The completion of Ephraim's tenth year in business offers me the perfect opportunity to express my appreciation for the incredible ride. Our early struggles made us realize that we needed to clarify exactly what we were trying to accomplish. We summed up our focus this way: Our mission is to create the finest Arts and Crafts style decorative arts available today, in a manner that respects not only historical traditions, but in the inherent worth of the people who make and purchase them, as well. This focus has provided us with the opportunity to bring together people with common interests. Their dreams, skills and hard work have made Ephraim an art pottery studio that I'm proud to be a part of.

I've always thought that people with a passion, when given the respect and opportunity to express their ideas, can create extraordinary work. You, our customer, support this ideal and make our vision possible. I am gratified and thankful that Ephraim has brought us all together. I thank you as well as everyone who works here and each person who has contributed to our success over the years. Together we can leave lasting examples of the vision and ideals we value so highly.

Sincerely,
Kevin Hicks
President and Founder,
Ephraim Faience Pottery

This three-sided piece is pure Grueby, but with a twist. Each side shows the daffodil flower in different stages of bloom: with the bud tightly closed, with the bud starting to open, and in full blossom. This piece symbolizes Ephraim Pottery's journey from fledgling pottery 10 years ago to the artistically mature studio it is today. Remember the Iris Star Vase from way back in 1997, and its cousin the Iris Star Cabinet Vase from 2000?

Combine Paul's fluid form and Laura's expressive sculpting and you've got flair to spare. Paul suggested putting calla lilies, his wife Julee's favorite flower, on this pitcher along with a handle that resembles a branch. You'll recognize the influence of the sculptor of the White Iris and Garden Lily vases in this piece. Just don't put water in it – this one's for decoration only!

This piece is a current interpretation of our beloved Prairie style. The tall, stylized flower and strong vertical lines echo not only the motifs favored by the architects of Prairie School but also the tall, straight flowers and grasses of the prairie itself. The flower motif appears on both the front and back of the piece.

What could be more cheerful than a sunflower? Ken combined both form and decoration to create this unique representation of his favorite flower, which he calls "the essence of summer." Exquisite details make this low piece lovely when viewed from either the side or from the top. This piece builds on the idea of a seamless merging of form with motif, a concept introduced in 2005 with the Squash Blossom Vase (see page 19).

July 2006 marks the tenth anniversary of the founding of Ephraim Faience Pottery. The pieces in the Tenth Anniversary Collection are representative of the range of styles, interests and talents that our artists have brought to our studio over the past ten years. It's an overview of where we've been, where we are and where we're going. You'll see influences from the past, but with some twists that are uniquely "Ephraim."

The pieces in this collection are available to order for one year only. Orders for these pieces may be placed through July 31st, 2007. After that, no more orders will be taken. The pieces in the Tenth Anniversary Collection will be retired on July 31st, 2007, or when the edition reaches 500 pieces, whichever comes first.

The foot of each of these pieces will bear a special tenth anniversary mark in addition to our regular studio mark and the artist's signature. This adds extra value to pieces that are already highly collectible. Ephraim's tenth anniversary only comes around once in a lifetime, so don't miss the opportunity to add these exceptional pieces to your collection.

Mary sculpts a chain of graceful morning glories around the rim of this commanding piece. A gardener at heart, Mary loves the delicate beauty of these tenacious climbers. The rim of this piece follows in the same stylistic vein as the Autumn Ginkgo Vase (page 17) that was introduced last year. Angela's delicate glaze combinations elevate this piece into the realm of the sublime. Mary and Angela also create smaller versions of this piece, shown on pages 8 and 15.

This piece seems to exist outside of time and space on some ethereal plane hidden from everyday view. The arches on the rim merge with the delicate, misty glazes to create windows into this hidden world. Gaze intently at it and you too will be drawn into this mysterious place. The arched rim recalls the Monona Vase from 2001.

It seemed like pepperberries kept popping up everywhere last fall when Mary was looking for design ideas. The Pepperberries Vase is a perfect example of why it's generally wise to go along with serendipitous ideas when they present themselves. The delicate sprays flow with the curve of the form. The combination additive-subtractive sculpting technique and subtle glazing are reminiscent of the Grapes of Wrath Vase (page 9).

Freddie Bounds and Judith Lund, a mother and daughter “collecting team” from Depoe Bay, first brought the wonderful bridges of the Oregon coast to our attention. Judith’s grandfather, Willard Wade Bounds Sr., was an expert who worked on bridges in Oregon, Washington and Idaho. She writes, “It is a great honor for us to have a tiny part in this vase being created. What a wonderful memorial to Grandpa and all the men who worked so hard on these beautiful coastal bridges.”

We named this piece the Unity Bridge in honor of our tenth anniversary. The bridge represents the present, which links the past with the future. The motif continues around the piece, having neither a beginning nor an end.

The motif for this piece was inspired by a bittersweet vine climbing a tall tree next to Dovetail Antiques, our company store. The brilliant Aurora glaze combination, which was first introduced in 2004 on our Northern Lights collection, creates a perfect backdrop for the bright orange berries that give the piece its visual “pop.”

We all loved the “four-square” cut-out design of 2005’s Pasadena Vase so much that we decided to carry it over onto a different form. While having the feel of traditional architectural ornament, Paul’s V-shaped vessel also hints at Art Deco and perhaps, ever so slightly, at the beginnings of Modernism.

Ephraim Faience pottery is thrown, sculpted, and glazed by hand. The hand-made nature of our pottery contributes to its individuality and enhances its collectibility. Each vessel bears the impressed mark of our studio and the signature of the principal artist. No more than 500 first-quality pieces of each design are created.

You can learn more about how we make our pottery on our web site, www.ephraim-pottery.com.

The Studio

The Ephraim Faience Pottery studio is located in a rural area just east of Madison, Wisconsin. We are surrounded by corn and soybean fields, marshes, and woods. The inspiration of the natural world is right outside our door. We find it in the sturdy old oaks that line the roadsides, in the wildflowers hidden amongst the ferns, and in the changing colors of the sky and the marsh. Nature becomes part of us. We take it in, reinterpret it using the Arts and Crafts aesthetic, and express it through a natural medium – clay. You become part of this process when you take our work into your home. It is our privilege to be able to share this with you through our pottery.
